

SIRS® Government Reporter

Your link to the federal government

SIRS®

Open even more eyes

Find even more answers

Explore even more subjects

SIRS® Government Reporter is always on the beat, collecting information published by and about the United States federal government

Get the scoop on the latest government-published information

SIRS Government Reporter delivers a comprehensive student resource for the study of all aspects of US federal government. It contains thousands of full-text documents, summaries, and graphics covering a wide variety of topics including health, science, economics, environment, politics, foreign affairs, business, and industry.

Researchers across the country rely on Government Reporter to provide easy, one-stop access to a wide range of information created by dozens of disparate agencies that employ a wide range of data sets to present information. Special database features link directly to most-studied and requested sources such as Supreme Court decisions, historical documents, country profiles, and recent federal agency publications.

Government Reporter provides schools with compelling learning resources for extending and reinforcing student achievement at all levels. All articles and graphics are carefully selected according to strict SIRS criteria with regard to content reliability, relevance, and appropriateness—making this the perfect complement to our SIRS® and eLibrary® reference tools. Government Reporter is updated daily and made available online through SIRS® Knowledge Source.

Multiple search methods make it easy to find relevant information. Subject heading, keyword, natural language, and topic browse queries are available, and students can sort their results by relevance or date. The articles are indexed according to Library of Congress subject headings to ensure the best results. Users can save and share data using tagged lists to view, print, or email text and graphics in one easy step. Auto-generated bibliographies, search history, session save, and bookmarking tools make the research process easy.

SIRS Government Reporter is your single source for current and historic government documents; Supreme Court decisions; information about elected leaders, and more.

"It is wonderful to finally have government documents available in an affordable, easy to use format in our Information Resource Center. Students and teachers have benefited greatly!"—Phyllis Reiman, Niles West High School, Skokie, IL

Government Reporter Subject Tree

Government Reporter connects users to thousands of resources and documents created by and about the US federal government. With the subject tree, users can cross-search all available information in a single click, quickly locating information about current and enduring issues produced by a host of government sources.

- Arts & Humanities Arts, Biography, History, Language and Linguistics, Libraries, Literature, Philosophy, Religion
- Domestic Affairs Census 2000, Civil Rights, Economics, Education, Energy, Environmental Protection and Conservation, Health Care Industry, Housing, Immigration, Justice, Labor, more...
- Federal Procedures Constitutional Issues, Executive Branch, Federal Departments and Agencies, Federal Elections, Intergovernmental Relations, Judicial Branch, Legislative Branch
- International Affairs American Foreign Policy, Economics/Commerce, Foreign Aid, International Crimes, International Social Issues, Peacekeeping Activities, Treaties and Agreements, more...
- Military Affairs Branches, Intelligence, National Security, Space Program/Satellites, Special Operations/Forces, Technology, Training/Education, Veterans, Weapons, more...
- Scientific Research Applied Sciences, Earth Sciences, Life Sciences, Medical Sciences, Physical Sciences

SIRS Government Reporter includes:

- U.S. Supreme Court provides hundreds of case documents (both landmark and recent) with summaries, as well as a directory of Justices
- Country Profiles includes profiles, flags, and maps of nearly 200 countries from the U.S. State Department
- Federal Agencies supplies information for hundreds of federal departments and agencies
- Historic Documents contains selected documents and speeches of exceptional historic value
- National Archives Documents provides primary sources and images from the National Archives and Records Administration to illustrate themes in U.S. history
- U.S. Congress provides data on members of the Senate and House of Representatives
- U.S. Presidents provides a biographical description of each president, as well as information about presidential libraries, burial sites, and families
- Editor's Top Pick recognizes an article and accompanying graphic for its research value; updated weekly
- Spotlight of the Month focuses on a monthly topic chosen for its timeliness and high interest

To learn more For more information about SIRS Government Reporter, call 800-521-0600.

We offer product support materials and workshops designed to help schools effectively integrate ProQuest® resources into the curriculum. Most materials are included as part of a yearly subscription. We can also work with schools and districts to tailor workshops for professional development.

Visit our website at www.proquestk12.com to learn more about our resources and services. Stay up-to-date on your resources by signing up for our monthly ProQuest product bulletins at www.proquestk12.com/news.

About K-12 resources

Since 1938, ProQuest Information and Learning has served as a global leader in collecting, organizing, and distributing value-added information to researchers, educators, and students in libraries, government, universities, and schools in more than 160 countries.

Our eLibrary®, ProQuest®, and SIRS® educational resources unite high-quality content, standards-based curriculum, and online technologies—helping schools deliver on the promise of technology to develop educators' skills and improve student achievement across the curricula.